

RECALL NOTICE

C.A.M.P. USA Inc. ANNOUNCES RECALL OF BLADE RUNNER & BLADE RUNNER ALPINE CRAMPONS.

RISK: A breakage where the front point integrates with the platform of the crampon may occur after very high amounts of use that lead to material fatigue. While no injuries have been reported, the breakage does impact the stability of the primary front point that climbers rely on for technical ice climbing. Based on the verticality of the sport for which the products have been designed, this could cause a fall which could result in injury or death.

PRODUCTS: All Cassin Blade Runner Crampons (ref. 37801, 37804) and Blade Runner Alpine Crampons (ref. 37802, 37804) designed for technical ice climbing.

REMEDY: Customers should stop use of the product immediately and contact CAMP USA Inc. for information on filing their claim.
